Coney Island Uses Scab Labor

In Building New Electric Plant.—Strike Ordered On the German Mutual Fire Insurance Building, Pike and Madison Avenue, Covington, Ky., Who Are Also Employing Scabs.—Regular Meeting of the Building Trades Council Largely Attended.

Owing to the continued use of scab engineers on the new German Mutual Fire Insurance building at Pike and Madison in Covington, Ky., the Building Trades Council last Thursday night voted to strike the job and request that their members, brothers and friends who live on the Kentucky side of the river and who patronize this company, give the Council their full moral support in the matter.

It seems strange that a big company like this one, and that John Craig, the mayor of Covington, who is the contractor, would be so stubborn in so small a matter.

It was also reported to the Council that the Coney Island Company were employing scab painters and steamfitters. The J. M. Wikel Engineering Company is building a new electric plant and are using as much scab labor as they did on the Diamond Light Company job; while scab painters are working all over the grounds. The Council decided to notify the Coney Island Company again, and if they persist in using scab labor, the Council will put them on the "We Don't Patronize" list and have it followed up by the Central Labor Council.

The regular meeting was called to order by President Cullen. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

A communication from the Granite Cutters' local requested the Building Trades Council to notify them whenever a death occurs in the membership so that they can furnish the family of the deceased with a list of fair monument firms. This was concurred in.

The report of the business agent was read and adopted.

The minutes of the board of business agents were read and concurred in.

All trades reported business brisk. There being no further business, the Council adjourned.

JUDGE TRACY

Helps Labor—He Decides Injunction Suit in Their Favor.

Last Monday Judge Frank Tracey, of Covington, Ky., decided the injunction case of Dine-Schabell Company vs. the Painters' District Council, in which the company had secured a temporary injunction against the union carrying a banner in front of their store. But when the case was tried on its merits, Judge Tracey ordered the injunction vacated, as the union was within its rights in carrying the banner, and could not be permanently enjoined unless they disturbed the peace.

UNION CABARET

Pat McHugh, proprietor of the Auf Wiedersehn Cafe, at Oakley, announces that he will open his famous garden Monday, May 28th, with one of the best cabaret bills in Cincinnati. Pat is an old union man, ex-treasurer of the Plumbers' local and has a host of friends in the labor movement, who will spend many an evening this summer at his garden in Oakley.

SCHULTZE BAKING COMPANY

Declared Unfair By the Central Labor Council.

The Central Labor Council, last Tuesday night, placed the Schultze Baking Company on the "We Don't Patronize" list, and the secretary of the Council was instructed to notify all local unions in Cincinnati and vicinity of the fact. While the Schultze Company employ union bakers, they hire scab mechanics in the building lines. This time it was the painters who made repeated efforts to get them to put union men to work, but without success. They were declared unfair by the Painters District Council, the Building Trades Council, and finally by the Central Labor Council.

Shipley's Inhumanity and Greed!

He Hopes That Union Men Will Be Put In the Trenches—Then Women and Children Will Work In Machine Tool Shops For Less Money—While His Kind Will Wax Fat Off of the Misery of Others

Nothing could demonstrate the greedy and inhuman position assumed by the National Metal Trades Association better than a speech delivered by Mr. Murray Shipley, of the Lodge & Shipley Company, and first vice president of that association, who says "that organized labor's attitude appears unpatriotic simply because they want an eight-hour day during the war. His address was delivered before the National Machine Tool Builders' Association at the Sinton Hotel Monday.

He hinted as his belief that the war might see all closed shop and labor restrictions removed, and that at the war's end there would be more men than jobs and the unions may fail.

He wished "labor agitators" might be made to fight in the front ranks and intimated that manufacturers' fear that the appointment of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, to the National Council of Defense is a menace to the country.

"Trying to Run War."

"It is essential that manufacturers defend themselves against the labor unions, who are trying to run this war," he said. "Organized labor opposed the militia, then selective service and now demands that the eight-hour day be continued through the war."

Shipley said that in the recent machinists' strike in Cincinnati manufacturers found that "green men" put on in strikers' places produced more than those they replaced.

Women in great numbers will be employed in machine shops during the war, he predicted. He hoped the government would not take machinists for selective service, because of the necessity of tremendous machine tool production.

Here's a fine example of a true American. He would put the union men in the front trenches, and leave all the rats home to work 18 hours a day, with women and children so that he could wax fat on the suffering of the unfortunate.

He criticised the President for appointing Samuel Gompers on the National Defense Board because he knows that Gompers will see that such turkey buzzards as he is will have to give the workers a square deal.

Gompers is working day and night for his country, but what is Shipley doing? He is figuring on having women and babies sweat in his machine shops so that he can enjoy the profits of the war. Shipley is too poor an American to criticize anyone else's patriotism.

Governor Cox voices the real condition in Ohio, when a few days ago he said:

"Ohio is responding to the call of civilization like she has met every crisis in the past. She will surprise the nation when her farmers and gardeners turn the fruits of labor and soil into the lap of the world this fall. There is a wonderful spirit present, and enterprise, industry and sacrifice mark the life of our people. Capital and labor recognize the importance of industrial peace, and the fairplay attitude of both sides is most inspiring."

unanimous choice of the Republican Executive Committee Tuesday afternoon. At least a score of names were considered for the nomination, and not until the committee convened did the sentiment center on Mr. Galvin.

Carl M. Jacobs, Jr., former Assistant City Solicitor, was selected as the running mate of Mr. Galvin for Vice Mayor. After these two offices had been decided upon it was easy to complete the ticket.

Nearly every candidate on the city ticket is well known. All the selections for Councilman at large, with the exception of John P. Langmead, are re-nominations. The only other city official to be named again is August Kirbert, Clerk of Municipal Court, who several times was Clerk of Police Court before the new law went into effect four years ago.

John Galvin, nominated for Mayor, is one of the most widely known citizens of Cincinnati. He has been prominent in the Order of Elks 20 years, and has been the Grand Exalted Ruler of that fraternity. He was Vice Mayor of the city two terms, and served as Mayor nearly six months after the death of Mayor Leopold Markbreit, in 1909. He was elected Vice Mayor again with Mayor Louis Schwab in the fall of the same year.

"I knew nothing of the proposal to nominate me," said Mr. Galvin. "I got the word just after my nomination, and it was a great surprise. While I did not seek the office I cannot refuse the demand of the party. I appreciate the honor, and cannot decline it. I was born in Cincinnati and have lived here all my
